

How to Bless the New Moon

Contributed by Rachel Kann

Source: Rachel Kann: <https://realizeparadise.com/>

How to Bless the New Moon

By Rachel Kann

Back before the journey began,
before traversing
the massive desert expanse,
before the sea had even split,
way way back in Egypt,
the first collective gift-transmission was given:

With transcendental gentleness, the Indwelling/Ever-Presence/All-That-Is/Infinite lifted your chin;
directed your attention
toward the heavens,
said,

*Let the moon's cyclic and fluid beauty
hew you to the rhythm
of time's unending spiral,
use this precise present
as your very beginning.*

*Sanctify every recursive moment of holiness
over objects.*

*Follow the mystery hidden in shadow.
Seek beneath the surface.*

*Let others bask in the surety of sunlight.
You were born of the moonlight tribe.*

*Let others be about answers.
You be about questions.*

Live in the liminal.

*Listen for the subtle metal-scrape:
these are keys unlocking each restraint.*

*Listen for the whisper:
this is the giving over
of the calling forth
of the new moon*

to you.

Listen, for this is your liberation.